Gossip Pertaining to the Theatrical Profession.

An Actor's Opinion of Actors' Fund Burials.

Said a well-known actor yesterday: "If I thought I should have to be buried by the Actors' Fund I should want to live forever." The subject under discussion was Charles Norris, the actor, who was sent home from Alvin Karpis' company, who died and was buried on Thursday. "Of course the Actors' Fund," continued the actor, "furnishes a coffin, hearse and all the necessities, but not a soul was sent to look after the body. Poor Norris' mere acquaintances discovered that the dead man had not even been shaved, and had no shroud. They climbed together and provided one. They also bought handles for the coffin, and saw that the poor fellow was properly disposed of. No burials were sent. Young Hegner, of the Miss Mather's company, spoke a few words. Norris was buried the same day as Clinton Hall. A notice of Hall's death was put up in the rooms of the Fund. Norris was completely surprised to find that a member of the Fund. My heart beat for his memory. The sight of such a funeral is enough to make any actor's heart protest, but put him out of the possibility of such an awful interment."

The members of Hall's company all fare extremely well at Christmas time. All the principals are given very handsome presents, and Mr. Hall's generosity on that occasion is well known. He will not allow his company to present him with a single souvenir.

Little Otto Hogner is in the city, and after the new year Mr. Ashley will probably decide as to his future operations. He has a contract with that manager to give twenty-five concerts. As yet less than thirty have been given. Hogner is a very good singer, and again, he did fairly well in New York, though on the road business was very bad indeed. The fact is that he is a phenomenon. It is to be found in the fact that a phenomenon can be a phenomenon when he has a predecessor alive in the memories of people.

The Jefferson-Florence combination will play Thursday, Friday and Saturday at Hammerstein's Harlem Opera-House. The same strong comedy team, who have been comedians during their recent engagement at the star will officiate.

The friends of Eugene Oudin, the tenor, declare that he is a Baptist, and announce their reasons for this to be as follows: Oudin was once in a rather bad way, and he accepted a position as organist in a small Baptist church. One afternoon he had been practicing, and when he attempted to leave the church he was stopped by the pastor, who said to him: "You are a Baptist, aren't you?" Oudin was unable to make himself heard, and the question was asked of him: "You are a Baptist, aren't you?" Before he was liberated from his seclusion Mr. Oudin had taken a nice bath in the holy water. His friends contend that this answer was enough to make him a Baptist.

Miss Fanny Davenport has been "resting" in the city during the past week and doing the theatres. To-night she begins a three days' engagement at the Theatre. Miss Davenport has a furnished flat in New York at the present time, and takes life easily. She has had a phenomenally successful season with "La Tosca."

Mme. Modjeska and her husband, Count Bezanka, intend to go to Poland at the end of this season. Mme. Modjeska still owns property in that country, and she is planning to go there and in St. Petersburg, taking a farewell of the European stage. The actress is at present engaged in writing magazine articles when she is not acting. She is very busy, indeed. The Count has returned from his California trip.

Neil Burgess has a very good "knack" at present. He says he has received numerous applications from the country for permission to send exhibits to "The County Fair."

This comes from Alexander Comstock, in London. He is negotiating with three houses for the "Homeside," it is now only a question of terms. Mr. Comstock is with Harry for the production of "Jack and the Beanstalk" at Niblo's. It is the new pantomime to be played at the Theatre. He has been to the theatre and closed partial arrangement with Niblo's for America. "Jack and the Beanstalk" is a feature of the season, although Kirby's "Nero" has been a hit with the circus.

WYOMING'S WOMAN JUDGE.

SHE NEVER STUDIED LAW, BUT SHE ADMINISTERED JUSTICE.

Legal Duties Not Permitted to Interfere with Household Arrangements—Woman Suffrage Has Not Resulted in Practical Benefits—Votes Alleged to Have Been Sold for New Bonnets and Dresses.

Wyoming's first and only woman justice, says a writer in the Philadelphia Press, Mrs. Esther McQuigg Slack Morris, was appointed by the Territorial Secretary, Mr. Lee, in the absence in the East of Gov. Campbell. To make assurance doubly sure, she was also appointed by the Commissioners at South Pass. Sitting in her beautiful home in Cheyenne, the dignified, snow-haired old lady chatted brightly of her experiences on the bench.

The nature of her marvelous account of my life, and some of them had a tearful and wonderful picture with my name attached. She was sitting on the sofa, her hands clasped, and she was looking at me with a smile. She was a woman of great character, and she was a woman of great character.

None the less was "Her Honor" a right wise Judge, and in the few cases appealed from her decision, her judgment was affirmed by the higher court. At a reception in California a year afterwards a man called across the audience: "What did your husband think of it?"

"The biscuits I baked afterwards were just as good as the biscuits baked before, and he did not see any difference," was the quick reply.

Mrs. Morris was and is a radical temperance woman, and sentences for drunkenness were accompanied by severe little lectures that were the terror of evildoers. One day she was sitting on the bench, and she was looking at me with a smile. She was a woman of great character, and she was a woman of great character.

Ground for His Suspicion. "Pshaw! Her father doesn't look as if he were a millionaire."

"Why, he wears elegant clothes and lives on the top shelf of what makes me suspicious."

A Choir Incident. "Stranger—There doesn't seem to be any choir this morning."

Texas Sexton—No; the organist and tenor are both laid up with pistol wounds. "Stranger—There doesn't seem to be any choir this morning."

Texas Sexton—Oh, no. Then two fellows just got into a little friendly dispute over the hymns to be sung today; that's all.

The Horrid Thing. "Miss Adipose—I think the gentlemen in New York are very polite. Three of them got up to give me a seat in the car to-day."

Woman Juror are not remembered as a success. At the first murder trial a juror stopped the proceedings by fainting repeatedly, and a new jury had to be summoned. "I must go home to my baby; he'll fret himself to death; he has never been away from me at night before."
